Death of Capt. A. J. Weaver We are pained to learn of the death of ptain WEAVER, which was the result of a accident. He was deputized by Gov. Lann county, in this Territory. While turning them to Mr. Reed. et in the State, near Whiston, he atcharge of the gun, and the contents enterdhis forehead, literally scattering his brains upon the ground.

Capt. WEAVER was a native of Penn.; by profession, a physician. He emigrated to Kansas in the winter of '55, took an ionerable part in the memorable struggles of '56, and was, if we mistake not, made a prisoner by the Federal Authori-

County Names. If each successive Legislature shall change the names of the Counties in Kansas to suit its caprice, how shall we manage to know where we are? Every town, as the population in it changes, on the same hypothesis, would be expected to sange its name, and every family and ndividual will do the same. Who is there who, when he writes Douglas or Shawnee, or any other county in Kansas, ever stops o think of the origin of the name, or ares who gave it. Douglas is quite as euhoneous as Lincoln, writes as easy, and makes no difference whether it is understood that it was borrowed from Senaor Douglas, Fred Douglass, or the Douglas made memorable by Miss Porter in the Scottish Chiefs. The White Cloud hief, which is so generally right, says :-"We have just seen a letter from E. M. ee, Esq., our County Clerk, which states that the Legislature have changed the came of Doniphan county to Collins county. What a petty business ! They had better attend to matters of importance the people. Here, they are asking pares.
